“Evolutionary experience
enables our consciousness to soar through the etheric sphere, or perhaps, to physically walk on water.
Yet, more importantly, our experience of conscious evolution
co-creates a new society that pioneers an innovative life on Earth.”

Conscious Evolution...what is it and where is it leading our human race?

Evolution is always occurring throughout the entire cosmos and its cumulative outcome is the result of many choices. Although there are possibilities that many environmental changes may occur during the impetus of our quantum shift, or the odds of mass migration, this article can help the reader understand that the changes we experience are always in divine order. These changes are essential for the new cosmic alignment of Earth and the outcome of restructuring and rebuilding our new society with advanced systems including self-sufficient communities. By holding the image of a positive outcome, it makes it easier for us to experience our transformation with ease and grace, rebuild a new society and create the reality we want to experience.

Conscious evolution is a forward impetus and derives from the result of conscious choice, a qualified element that requires us to be fully present in every moment. It overshadows a quantum template of understanding that sustains a divine plan, and this plan is transcending the course of human history. The message that we are opening up to receive signifies that we are the co-creators of an “ultimate design” that involves transmutation throughout all life everywhere. However, it is virtually impossible for any of us to foresee the end result of this “design” until we are in the moment of the revisions, because we are the ones that are co-creating the new foundation for this template here on Earth. Hence, conscious evolution is a step by step process of active forward motion, and this impetus enables us to comprehend, and achieve transformation within our human, global and planetary progression.

Conscious evolution enables us to redefine that in every moment of every day we have the power to choose to co-create the life that we want to experience

As pioneers with only a “foothold” in the experience of an immense human and cosmic passageway, conscious evolution enables us to redefine that in every moment of every day we have the power to choose to co-create the life that we want to experience. As long as we are making constructive choices conscious evolution occurs. Everyone who moves in a positive direction contributes their own piece to becoming fully aware of the on-going evolution of collective consciousness. Thence, the impetus of conscious evolution stretches us beyond our current level of awareness, and rightfully so, it is supposed to. In our physical reality conscious evolution redefines our awareness and sweeps through us like a tsunami that floods us with the waters of purification and rejuvenation, creating complete restoration within our DNA. And this is just the tipping point.

The tipping point enables Earth to come into alignment and it enables us to experience the quantum attributes of steadfastness, equality and equanimity. These attributes enable us to attain a heightened understanding of the purpose for human life through the unfoldment of several phases of upward mobility such as; awakening, activation, ascension, assimilation, conscious creation, manifestation, certainty, divinity, synergy, and sovereignty. During our unfoldment towards a quantum understanding of this new template of understanding, we claim our divine birthright, create a new life contract, amplify our sensory perceptions, unify separation in our consciousness, and align free will with divine will. Through pure intention and in-depth vision we actualize the quantum experience of liberation and freedom, as well as the unlimited creativity of joy, abundance, truth, clarity, certainty, and infinite love. As authentic conscious co-creators we strengthen the concept of service for the greater good of all.

The full scope of this awareness requires that we define life in accordance with our full human potential. It enables us to use our evolutionary eyes and be fully cognizant of all that is occurring within and around us in any given moment. This advanced focus towards the transformation of our human evolutionary journey includes the synthesis of all that we are as unified consciousness, which is a major attainment in our evolutionary experience.

This unified field of resonance leads to our being consciously aware of the synchronicity and cosmic synergy within our human self. Complete clarity on this unified field of resonance reveals that conscious evolution clearly defines that all human experiences simultaneously occur interdimensionally and multidimensionally. At the human phase this aspect of quantum physics challenges us to broaden our present scope of awareness regardless of our race, creed, societal beliefs, or what we think we know or do not know. Some readers will accept this authentic explanation of conscious evolution along with the understanding of its transformational cycle and some will not. What truly matters is our conscious preference of every individual to activate and apply the power of choice to everything that we do in day-to-day life.

Through the use of conscious preference we can choose to experience resonant possibilities and probabilities and create the full diversity of multiple potentialities. However, this impetus requires willingness and commitment to shift beyond the egoic self and consciously synthesize all that we are as co-creator with God. Hence, the initial impact of this phenomenal threshold is just the tip of the iceberg, as the restructure of advanced systems alters the overall stability of all human life. And some individuals will accept this potentiality and others will not.

It is essential to be aware that everything can shift in an instant, yet the fact that we are truly in a volatile time, awareness of what is occurring does not go unnoticed. However, if we remain focused, through chaos always comes order. The quantum message to this advanced form of order is “nothing is as it appears to be.” For this reason it is crucial that we all envision a positive outcome for ourselves and those we love, as well as for our planet.

Conscious evolution also affects the systems currently on this planet. Out-dated systems will fall and new systems will be developed according to the advanced technology that downloads into the consciousness of those individuals who contract to implement them. The institutions that are out of alignment within these out-dated systems will also be modified to be in alignment with the advanced systems that are coming forth. As systems on Earth begin to rebuild their new structures an evolutionary spiral of convergence synergizes the individualized fields of knowledge throughout religion, science and spirituality, bringing them into a quantum field of resonance. As this unification creates essential transfiguration, an all-encompassing interstellar encodement reinforces the necessity for an advanced system of order. This infusion of synergy transcends the out-dated systems into a quantum field of economic organization. Some of these systems are; architecture, education, allopathic systems and holistic alternatives, finance, government, green environment, industry, religion, science and spirituality, technology, transportation, and the creation of self-sufficient communities. These and all other systems are responsible for providing efficient, self-sustained institutions' that manifest equality, balance, harmony and a sense of unity among those individuals involved. As we create these advanced systems every aspect of life is transformed and flourishes with vitality, and those individuals who implement these advanced systems influence the entire global community. Following are some of the essential revisions that we will bring into the forefront:

Architecture

Many of the world's traditions in fact have intergalactic stellar connections and origins. The architects transmit specific matrices of light that manifest off-planet structure into form. Their blueprints are diverse and comprise technology suitable for the 21st century.

Education

On a technological level individuals like Steve Jobs bring forth innovations, which transform every aspect of our daily life. On the level of personal and spiritual education we learn to access and integrate remembrance of off-planet lifetimes and bring resolutions to their lessons.

With regards to today's youth many are already revealing their awareness of advanced levels of creativity for they walk with full knowing of their cosmic purpose. For example: Crystal children bring forth this knowing and show us how to implement the remembrance of advanced forms of interstellar technologies. These children are the future Golden Age Teachers, sharing cosmic knowledge through the educational system, and they have the innate ability to educate us in the multidimensional understanding of interstellar awareness. However, most importantly the 5D teachers in this new education system guide us through the most profound training of all – our own;

Allopathic Systems and Holistic Alternatives

In the western world the medical system advances toward the use of highly developed quantum technology to provide healing for the influx of patients requiring this service. Many medical professionals have yet to realize that we are releasing medical issues that stem from energetic patterns held within the matrix of our DNA. However, some medical diseases are chronic or self-created, and in the world of holistic health and wellness, this reveals that the issue may also be energetically based rather than medically based.

In the Chinese medical system doctors receive monetary compensation when their patients are well, rather than when they are sick. In our western world the new encodement for health and well-being is to accept full responsibility for ourselves, and maintain a vibrant life force that reinforces wellness beyond our present scope of wakefulness. This knowledge raises our awareness of how important it is to create an advanced human prototype within a new society that actively develops an advanced health system for people that are living a more simple life after the quantum shift occurs.

As the western medical profession refines their approach to wellness and integrates the advanced use on energetic technologies, they genuinely approach their work with heart-based sensitivity. This supports complete collaboration between allopathic and holistic practices and facilitates a deeper level of healing for the patient;

Finance

Our new financial system is developed through a global endeavor and it promotes an equal distribution of wealth among all humankind. Money lenders within financial institutions transform greed at every level, and the development of an advanced monetary system based on integrity and accountability creates a different distribution of wealth. Financially all of the general necessities in life are much more evenly distributed, which enables us to create the reality that we choose to experience. It is beneficial for us to remember to envision the outcome of our own prosperity so that we manifest “abundance” in every area of our lives;

Government

This new system of government unites people all over the world in mutual respect, sustainability and interdependence. Its foundation consists of a body of representation that speaks for the people at the grassroots level. It elects and supports politicians that serve their constituents with a true sense of global and planetary purpose, monitors judicial and governing bodies, and govern according to the highest good of all. Therefore, this highly evolved form of government makes certain that political power remains in the hands of the people;

Green Environment

Our new green environment is free of all artificial substance, and Earth's current carbon based system transcends into ether, an air-based 5th dimensional frequency of light. Hence, Earth's 3D carbon-based system transmutes oxygen into Earth's 5th dimensional air-based frequency of light. This alteration is supported by the geometric form, the 5D platonic solid, icosadodecahedron, and its electromagnetics naturally cleanse earth's waters, soil, air, and restores these elements to their original perfection. This alteration may be very challenging for many individuals to comprehend;

Industry

This advanced system operates with refined integrity and service, and complies with the standards that are essential for a healthy environment. The use of high-tech equipment programmed with advanced technology supports industries and their operating systems such as commercial production, manufacturing, inventory and deliveries. Employers' inform their market of available products and services through electronic broadcasting. This enables us to determine what our requirements are and complete our purchases accordingly;

Religion

All of the human conditioning that we have internalized from religion dissipates from our consciousness. If we evaluate our human programming we can see how we have been conditioned by many of the out-dated concepts within certain religious traditions. Many people may have great difficulty with this 5D concept due to their previous imprints.

In the quantum field of religion, all ancient doctrines are modified to contain a unified concept of oneness, which enables us to live our lives with a direct moment-to-moment connection to Godself, or Source. Through the spiritual guidance of oversoul, we interact as one consciousness, function in harmonious action, and emanate infinite love through the attributes of equality and equanimity. We are forthright in independent thinking and tread farther into the unknown in service to the divine plan. As a unified team of conscious individuals we uphold the light while we fulfill our true purpose;

Science and Spirituality

All separation unifies within the fields of science and spirituality. Mathematicians, Geometricians and Physicists all revise their base of knowledge, and bring their respected fields into alignment with the frequencies of the quantum field of the 5th dimension. Geneticists, Biologists, Geologists, Meteorologists, Astrophysicists, and Cosmologists all play their part by introducing advanced technology to sustain DNA, initiate the procreation of the new human prototype, monitor pulsations in the magnetic and electromagnetic grids, supervise direction of impending atmospheric activities, modification of space travel, and the knowledge to help us synergize with the true lineage of their intergalactic origin.

Technology

Modern technology is rapidly becoming a major part of many systems on Earth and the institutions that operate these systems are realizing that these advanced skills are essential to the way in which we create our new life.

Advanced technology expands throughout the 21st century, initiates the download of off-planet technology in all systems on Earth. These downloads filter through the consciousness of those individuals whose mission it is to implement it into a newly formed society. And, the development of the microchip, supercomputers, and solar and wind technology facilitate in the momentum of this forward progress.

Transportation

Inventors, astrophysicists and engineers collectively use their skills to fulfill a greater purpose than they can achieve on their own. As an effective unit these professionals bring their knowledge together, master magnetics and build vehicles that function electrically or as hybrid. As a result of their creativity transportation is greatly enhanced.

Cosmic awareness and the use of interstellar technologies facilitate in the development of spacecrafts, which enables us to travel to other planets and connect with life on interplanetary civilizations. These two methods are essential to our future existence as they assist in a more rapid method of travel from one destination to another.

Self-sufficient Communities

“Human life represents a tiny point as it journeys along the spiral of conscious evolution. Specific steps along the spiral sustain vibrational frequencies that when passed through or abided in, compress into a minute flame of light, which expands into a larger flame. The more we move upward along our own spiral, the more we energetically, sense, know or feel the pulsation of light that we are. Eventually the last knowing is brought forth, the spiral is pulled inside out and the vastness of our light is fully here, where we are functioning within a physical body. In essence we re-create our way of life, in accordance with the understandings and the interaction of time and timelessness, as it is revealed in our blueprint.”

Being fully present in our bodies and with life on Earth enables us to build self-sufficient communities. Within these communities we consciously create societies with new social structures based on complete integrity, equality, harmony and balanced living. As inhabitants of these communities we encourage the sharing of wisdom, knowledge, ideas and talents between the professionals who live there.

These interdependent relationships combine our expertise with genuine authenticity and are in service to the greater good of all. Aside from gardeners and food growers who provide healthy food, in exchange for their service, we interrelate with other professionals within the community that we live in. People from every profession will be able to offer their specialty in a much more egalitarian way. And these individuals will have the innate ability to communicate with other self-sufficient communities around the globe.

The more we expand our awareness, the more we develop global communities that form circles of unity based in common ground. These communities emanate infinite love for the needs of the whole, and provide a greater sense of stability to all who participate.
