“Human life progresses
towards the tipping point of its evolution, where the in-breath and out-breath of Source emanates from within.”

Welcome to the third series of Conscious Evolution: A New World View.

In my last transcript titled, “Human Consciousness as Cosmic Intelligence,” I shared a brief explanation of the magnitude required for effectively shifting our consciousness, and intentionally experiencing the most profound evolutionary journey ever recorded in human history. It is very evident that as we continue our human progression everything is moving at warp speed, and we are becoming aware that there is a magnificent movie being consciously birthed into human life, which we have yet to fully experience. Therefore, in this third transcript I am sharing further insight into how our assimilation of fifth dimensional stability on Earth supports the impetus of this evolutionary journey. And it requires that we be fully present with the transformational experiences that are occurring within as well as around us, as they are beyond the limited perception that exists within third dimensional reality.

Modern technology is rapidly becoming a major part of many systems on Earth and the institutions that operate these systems are realizing that these advanced skills are essential to the progression of life that the human race is now a part of. Hence, an evolutionary impulse is always occurring throughout the cosmos, and our assimilation of fifth dimensional stability activates the ultimate phase of human transfiguration. As a result, we are participating in a divine plan that is changing the passageway of human history.

Many individuals within humanity are awakening to the awareness that there is a grand picture to human life that we have yet to fully experience, for it is beyond the limited perception that exists within 3rd dimensional reality. As human life progresses towards its tipping point, the in-breath and out-breath of creation downloads advanced frequencies of light into our physical body. This phase of alteration supports the transfiguration of our consciousness as it alters from one form or structure to another. During this upward momentum of progression we assimilate attributes of the fifth dimension and experience the stability of conscious divinity, union, equality, equanimity, synchronicity, and synergy. The frequency of this advanced configuration enables our evolutionary self to support us in our purification, rejuvenation and restoration as transformational change manifests within our physical body. Restoration enables some of the fifth dimensional attributes such as; trust, purpose, passion and joy to manifest into our day-to-day lives.

It is crucial to understand that through the God-given attribute of “divine will,” we take the gigantic step towards the foothold of global stability. This enables us to build a solid foundation for how we choose to experience metamorphosis from human life as we know it. During this alteration, the wheat separates from the chaff, and the gap widens between those human lifestreams who fully claim their divine birthright, and those who cling to the conditioning of the material world.

As we complete our evolutionary impulse to this fifth dimensional realm of awareness we participate in a domino effect that also radiates throughout the cosmos. From the perspective of our soul we contract to be on Earth for this phenomenal experience, and during it, we consciously unite the aspect of self that lives in every dimension, even beyond the 12 dimensions that the human mind can comprehend while in human embodiment. For the majority of humanity, comprehension of the fifth dimension is just beginning to take a foothold in our consciousness, as it supports a heightened concept that has yet to fully manifest on Earth. Yet, with each step that we take along the ladder of our own evolutionary passage we remember all that we are within the realm of multidimensional awareness.

Our assimilation of fifth dimensional stability necessitates that we transmute the out-dated need to rely on self-created labels of identification to assist us in our experiences of conscious evolution. Therefore, any external reference towards names allotted by ancient seekers to define the advanced consciousness of external gurus, angels, spirit guides and ascended masters, often hinder our ability to attain the innate knowing of our universal humanness. The more we focus on the universal presence within us, the more this self-realized wakefulness enables us to fully experience divinity in our day-to-day lives.

Many of us are becoming more sentient to the understanding that we currently live in a “morphogenetic energy field,” where we experience our creation of individual and interconnected third dimensional realities. We project thoughts and feelings into this morphogenetic field by way of unconscious or conscious transmissions that emanate from our polarized thought forms. Yet, what some of us fail to understand is, the thoughts that we project magnetically return to us as our living reality. As we experience fifth dimensional stability our challenge is to BE in the present moment, rather than allowing our thoughts to pull us into the past or the future. Living in the present moment enables us to remain centered and balanced, with the innate knowing that everything always reveals itself in the universal order of divine timing. And it is through divine timing that each moment shifts into the next without any point of reference.

Our prerequisite to assimilate some of the fifth dimensional attributes is essential to our living in an advanced way of human life. The frequencies within these qualities sustain very different vibrations as they reflect what is known as “universal etiquette.” Often we misinterpret this 5D protocol and compare it with the unresolved and outdated characteristics in daily human life. Following are some specific qualities to assist with the assimilation of 5th dimensional stability:

Acceptance: is the key to resolution with your past;

Authenticity: be true to yourself and search for the essence of universal consciousness or the heart of realization that is already within;

Change: expect the unexpected as constant change is the only stable condition. Remember that you are a quantum being of light and energy and you are in charge of your own direction;

Clarity: emanates as full knowing. Our crystalline conversion to the attribute of clarity is crucial for clear direction in our new way of human life;

Conscious Preference: the art of living in human embodiment without the framework of human conditioning. This crystalline conversion enables you to take the next step of your evolutionary journey, as well as take full responsibility for the chain of events that you create in your life. The stability of this fifth dimensional attribute emanates a vibration that streams outward into infinity; therefore, as a co-creator you actualize experience;

Freedom: requires the intention to let go of your story. Letting go requires forgiving others for their choices in life and what you think they have done to you;

Gratitude: remember how blessed you are and be grateful for everything in your life, especially the impediments, consequences, and aversions as they train you to appreciate the goodness that life has to offer. The more you allow yourself to see all that you are given, the more you are in the flow with the assimilation of fifth dimensional stability. Gratitude implies that you accept the way in which life reveals itself in every moment;

Honesty: the conversion to honesty applies to every aspect of advanced life on Earth. Everything we say and every action we take is recorded at subtle levels, therefore, if we participate in dishonesty, it is crucial that we bring complete resolution to that which we have created;

Integrity: this assimilation is absolutely crucial to our new way of human life. Any individual or business institution that lacks the stability that this essential conversion emanates, will not survive the shift;

Humility: is the universal law of being humble in everything that you do;

Infinite Love: is without limits or barriers, and its frequency emanates to the aspect of consciousness in other star systems, galaxies and universes. It directs the way to gratitude, stability, peace, equality, divinity, synchronicity and synergy. Our assimilation of this heightened aspect of love unifies all existence and accepts life as it is;

Joy: is the essential fifth dimensional attribute and the gateway to experiencing inner passion in everything that we do;

Knowing: It is as an intuitive inspiration that comes before the perception of rational awareness. As your intellect and intuition work together as natural partners, their conversion creates a divinely guided apparatus to experience an inner dialogue of multidimensional communication. Knowing is the innate ability to receive an immediate download of energetic transmissions. The more you neutralize all opposition from any inner conflict, the more you enable intuition to lead your intellect through what you energetically feel and know, and bring another paradigm of stability into the forefront;

Passion: requires that you only do what you love, for it is the way to alchemy and manifestation;

Potential: consciously manifests as the experiences that you prefer to have so that you can experience your full purpose or mission while on Earth. Immense transformation is definitely at your doorstep and you have an opportunity to hold the vision of perfection so that it is reflected back to you;

Purpose: we incarnate to Earth for experience, and our assimilation of 5th dimensional stability enables us the opportunity to align with universal understanding; the self-realization of all that we are as quantum beings of light and energy;

Responsibility: It is crucial that we take full responsibility for our spoken words, actions and deeds;

Synchronicity: is the gateway to the present moment and all that is authentic and real. This 5D attribute sparks further synchronicity as each moment shifts into the next without any point of reference; this attribute enables us to manage our energy in every moment rather than our time;

Truth: we understand the purpose for human embodiment and we allow all that we are as interplanetary citizens to experience our full potential for life on Earth.

If your experiential assimilation to fifth dimensional stability is complex and challenging, remember to remain focused in the present moment. During your synthesis of the above attributes, free will transmutes to divine will. You also claim your divine birthright and modify the way in which you fulfill your soul contract. If this is your experience, it is crucial that you are exceptionally clear about what you intend, as your conscious preference alters your future timeline. With the planetary, global and individual changes occurring at this time, as well as environmental shifts, mass migration and massive displacement of people; remember your role as a lightworker. Emanate your quantum field of light and energy without getting caught up in the chaos. Trust that you have this innate ability to assimilate fifth dimensional stability while in human embodiment.

This 6-part series of articles contains essential information for the conscious evolution of your quantum shift in consciousness. As you read through this series I trust that you, the Reader, will make conscious choices for yourself, assist those you love, and hold this planet in your heart so that it completes its shift with as much ease and grace as possible.
